Joshua Treece is an associate practicing in the Wood Rogers' Labor & Employment and Litigation sections. Josh focuses his employment practice on issues related to E-Verify and I-9 compliance. His litigation practice concentrates on matters pertaining to contract disputes and business torts.

Josh, a North Carolina native, graduated in 2002 from Appalachian State University in the top 10% of his class, receiving a B.S. in psychology with honors. While at Appalachian State, Josh joined Phi Kappa Phi honors society, and was nominated by the Honors Committee for the "Outstanding/Distinguished Senior Award."

Josh received his law degree from William & Mary School of Law in 2009. While at William & Mary, Josh received honors for excellence in research, writing, analysis, and client relations. Between his first and second year, Josh worked for the United States Nuclear Regulatory Commission in Rockville, Maryland in their Materials Litigation and Enforcement Division. Throughout his second year, Josh clerked for the Honorable F. Bradford Stillman, United States Magistrate Judge for the Eastern District of Virginia.

Prior to attending law school, Josh served as a law clerk with the United States Department of Justice, Office of the United States Trustee in Atlanta, Georgia. Josh also spent four years working as an investigator for a South Carolina firm.

RVLSA . . . the association for legal professionals is a nonsectarian, nonpartisan, nonprofit and nonunion, professional association. Our local chapter is associated with VALS . . . the association for legal professionals (www.v-a-l-s.org), and NALS . . . the association for legal professionals (www.nals.org). With membership in RVLSA you become a member of VALS and NALS.

The objective of the association is to establish good fellowship among the members of the legal community, to further our knowledge of the law, to uphold its honor and dignity, and to create a high standard of ethics among our members.

Our association is open to those persons engaged in work of a legal nature (i.e., legal secretary, law office administrator, legal assistant, typist, or clerk) and employed in any law office, court system, trust department of banks or trust companies, or in any public or private institution or office directly engaged in work of a legal nature.

RVLSA and NALS recognize that education is the key to success. NALS offers certification for its members and nonmembers and numerous legal training courses. RVLSA's monthly membership meetings programs are geared to keeping members informed and are highlighted with a guest speaker. Some past guest speakers have included, former Senator and attorney John Edwards, local attorneys, Honorable Jonathan M. Apgar, Judge, Roanoke City; and Sheri King Jones, head of the Roanoke City Commonwealth's Attorney's Office Drug Prosecution Section.

A membership in RVLSA will help you and your staff stay informed of new developments within the legal profession, utilize the experience and knowledge of others, and develop professional networking. A membership in RVLSA will greatly enhance your goal of providing premier professional service to your clients.
